 PEPTILUX

If there is one thing certain is that we cannot escape time, and as it passes we grow older. But it would be a great mistake to think that beauty fades with age. In fact, true beauty, the pure, deep and charming kind, is gained with time, as we become more self-aware, mature and those 'imperfections', the first wrinkles, appear. Therefore, we have the right and the duty to feel good at any age. This is what the Peptilux brand has always been about: our aim is to create products of a higher quality than those on the market, products that work and are safe for your skin. Our promise is that you will always feel good about yourself and the world. Peptilux is an innovative brand of skincare products for both men and women. Peptilux products are characterised by formulas that combine revolutionary active ingredients in synergy with natural extracts.

What are PEPTIDES?

Peptides are organic compounds formed by the combination of two or more amino acid molecules linked by peptide bonds. Such molecular bonds can be found in human, plant and animal cells and are involved in the composition of hair, nails and connective tissue. The epidermis is therefore naturally rich in neuropeptides. However, as we age, our ability to regenerate, convert and therefore use them properly is progressively reduced. For this very reason, pharmaceutical and cosmetic companies such as Chogan Group have realised the potential of creating creams and serums that allow peptides to be applied and absorbed topically.

How do Peptides work?

The process that occurs in the skin is very simple: each peptide has the ability to bind precisely to cell receptors that regulate specific biological processes. Peptides freely circulate in the body until they latch on to their own receptor, an enzyme with which they transmit the message to the nucleus of the cell, which is then activated for the biological process for which it was originally conceived, such as producing the required substance (e.g. collagen).

So, peptides carry a specific message, which only hooks onto their receptor, acting in a targeted way on our skin, by stimulating certain biological actions. After they have latched on and fulfilled their function, they break down into amino acids.

Peptilux products: studies and scientific validity

All Peptilux products are scientifically formulated and tested to guarantee top quality and performance. More than 1,000 ingredients have been analysed by our experts in the laboratory to find the perfect formula. Once the formula has been developed, it is subjected to rigorous testing to ensure its efficacy and safety.

Peptides and Beauty

It is fair to say that beauty products formulated with peptides are a competitive and viable alternative to invasive cosmetic surgery. The action of peptides has been proven to stimulate and improve certain functions of the body, such as skin renewal. Scientific studies have shown that the use of peptides on the skin provides very promising results. Moreover, they are perfectly tolerated by all skin types, even the most sensitive.

Anti-wrinkle “Shock Action” Effect Eye Contour Cream with LIPHASYN™

Peptilux anti-wrinkle eye contour cream is enriched by the presence of functional active ingredients with a ‘shock action’ effect that perform a synergy of wide-ranging anti-ageing actions, guaranteeing immediate results that last from 6 to 10 hours. Its special formula contains LIPHASYN™, an innovative peptide complex with an immediate tensor effect. The peptide acts like a natural filler, filling in wrinkles and plumping the skin of the eye contour. Sodium Silicate in the formula, on the other hand, instantly smoothes periocular wrinkles. Enriched with the properties of several valuable ingredients, the product has complementary anti-ageing actions:

- Wrinkle prevention through a synaptic mechanism inhibiting muscle contraction;
- Myorelaxant action on facial muscles that reduces wrinkles thanks to a Botox-like mechanism;
- Protection against skin dehydration through an HA compensation mechanism;
- Immediate tensor effect, which “smoothes out” periocular wrinkles and eliminates the “tired eye” effect.

Anti-Wrinkle “Time Freeze” Effect Day Face Cream with ALPHADERM™

Peptilux anti-wrinkle “time freeze” effect day cream has a fluid and light texture. It is suitable for all skin types and rich in functional active ingredients that give it a botox-like, anti-wrinkle, brightening, revitalising, antioxidant and protective action. Its special formula contains ALPHADERM™, an innovative peptide complex designed to reduce the signs of ageing: its dipeptide is able to rapidly reduce the appearance of wrinkles and expression lines thanks to its botox-like action, which relaxes the face, reducing wrinkles without losing facial expressiveness; it is fast-acting, long-lasting and reversible. When used early on young skin, it helps to delay the appearance of wrinkles, with an age-freezing effect; it also rejuvenates and smoothes the skin. The smoothing effect of the cream on deep wrinkles is visible after just 4 weeks of use.

The antioxidant properties of Grapeseed Oil in the formula help protect the skin from premature ageing, weather conditions and free radicals. It also has moisturising, smoothing and sebum-regulating properties. Jojoba Oil revitalises, regenerates and prevents wrinkles, leaving the skin smooth, silky and moisturised. Plant-derived Squalene, known for its emollient properties, helps restore the superficial lipid film. It soothes sensitive and irritated skin, while performing also a anti-ageing and antioxidant action. The result is a true beauty treatment that, from the very first application, makes the skin firmer, smoother and more radiant.

Anti-wrinkle “Collagen Pro” Night Face Cream with SINCPRO™

Peptilux anti-wrinkle “Collagen Pro” night face cream has a fluid and light texture. Suitable for all skin types, it is rich in functional active ingredients that have an anti-wrinkle, brightening, revitalising, antioxidant and protective action. Its special formula contains SINCPRO™, an innovative peptide complex designed to accelerate collagen synthesis: this innovative tripeptide visibly reduces the appearance of wrinkles in the areas most prone to the imperfections of time and significantly reverses the visible damage caused by photo-aging; it also rejuvenates and smoothes the skin, refines the appearance of pores, improves compactness, elasticity and skin structure. The peptide ingredient has a dual effect: first, it increases collagen by mimicking the human body’s mechanism for activating a key growth factor in collagen synthesis; second, it protects collagen from degradation.

Both actions work in synergy to maintain the skin’s complete structural integrity. From the first application, the skin is firmer, smoother and brighter – a real beauty treatment.

Anti-Wrinkle “Lifting” Effect Day Face Serum with PEPFIL™

Peptilux anti-wrinkle “lifting” effect day face serum is enriched with functional active ingredients with an anti-ageing effect. It provides deep moisture and is effectively absorbed by the skin. Its special formula contains PEPFIL™, an innovative peptide complex designed to provide effective anti-ageing action. Enriched by the presence of a DNA double helix with an immediate and long-lasting ‘lifting’ effect, it visibly reduces the appearance of wrinkles in the areas most prone to the signs of ageing. It repairs UV damage by significantly reversing the visible signs of photo-aging. Protects the skin from airborne pollutants and improves skin firmness and elasticity with an immediate lifting and firming action. Finally, it plumps, increases skin thickness and stimulates collagen production.

Its efficacy is guaranteed by an exceptionally well-balanced blend of hyaluronic acids that combines the powerful moisturising, film-forming and soothing action of the high pm fractions with the anti-aging action of the low pm fractions, significantly reducing skin roughness and stimulating the expression of genes responsible for maintaining skin integrity.

If used earlier, it also helps to delay the appearance of wrinkles.

Its efficacy is guaranteed by an exceptionally well-balanced blend of hyaluronic acids that combines the powerful moisturising, film-forming and soothing action of the high pm fractions with the anti-aging action of the low pm fractions, significantly reducing skin roughness and stimulating the expression of genes responsible for maintaining skin integrity.
